Beverly Martin is a skilled practitioner and teacher of NLP, having both studied and taught NLP in her native homeland of South Africa, and here in the Northwest for several years. Her background is in adult learning and video production for corporate communication and management training in financial institutions. She used NLP extensively in her work with executives in corporate South Africa. From 1991, she also began to assist individuals with their personal growth, change and health work. In 1993 Beverly made Oregon, USA, her home where she continued to be associated with those who are dedicated to teaching high quality NLP worldwide. Beverly shares her sense of humor and many of her unusual life experiences along with her skill, to make learning interesting and enjoyable. Her particular passion is in teaching health professionals advanced NLP Communication skills which in her opinion forms the basis of the "Patient Practitioner Connection."

Beverly's enthusiasm for her work often has her invited to speak to groups to inspire, motivate and instruct others in the private and business sectors. Her private practice is in Hillsboro, where she enjoys working with individuals and couples to meet their outcomes for improving health, relationships, productivity, and Spiritual growth.
